Dear Mr Robb:

I am a long time answering your letter of May 28th, in which you enclosed some samples for white suits for The Eagles, but I have been waiting to hear from Mr Reilly. I heard from him today, and he told me to write to you directly about the suits.

Do you still have the triple X material. If so put it aside for me. In fact I would like you to start work on them. I want to find out however something about the lettering etc. I will be so glad when the day returns when you can be choosy about your uniforms. I guess that day is a long way off however.

First of all I guess we can still have Navy blue script lettering. Numbers from 22 up, with the size 50 suit for Mackey number 40. Is there any trim being used today. If so what is it? I imagine piping and braid is not practical. Is it? About the cut, please use the same cut that was used in the last uniforms you made us, the gray ones. The men all said they fit better. It seems you cannot make the suits too large, or too long.

It is a shame you do not have the material preshrunk. I had to give my white uniforms away for no reason except they had shrunk so badly. They were in good condition otherwise. The factory claims it is due to the fact they shrink when they are cleaned because water is used. I wonder why they do not use water when the material is made, before it is put into garments. I really would like to know.

I dont think I need socks, caps and belts. I did not give these things away when I gave the suits. As a result I think I can use them with the new uniforms. I will appreciate hearing from you when you will be able to start the order, and when I can expect them. The season will be near over I guess.

Vrey Truly Yours

PS I received the duplicate jacket. Thanks
